

EU registration of industrial chemicals, biocides and agrochemicals

ToxMinds' core team of industry-experienced toxicology, environmental and regulatory affairs consultants combines state-of-the-art human and environmental exposure and risk assessment science with pragmatic regulatory solutions and ethical business practice. If you need to comply with European regulations for industrial chemicals (REACH), biocides or agrochemicals, we've got you covered.

Our registration services include:

- Portfolio and strategic regulatory consulting
- Data compilation, evaluation of non-testing approaches and waiving opportunities, final data gap analysis
- Interpretation, quality evaluation and study summary preparation of physico-chemical, environmental fate, ecotoxicology and human toxicology studies
- Tiered human and environmental exposure modeling and risk assessment
- Design and management of testing programs
- Development of compliant registration dossiers under the REACH, BPR and Agrochemical regulations

We offer our clients the assurance of being up-to-date on all the latest EU developments and regulatory changes. Their interests are best represented thanks to our close contact with experts in the European Institutions, agencies (ECHA, EFSA) and member states.
